Upon implementation of new policies, previous ones become null and void.

It is important for employees to understand that only authorized executives of Ohanafy have the authority to make changes to company policies. Individual managers and supervisors do not have the authority to alter, waive, or create policies. Any policy changes must be officially documented and approved by the company's executive leadership.

Ohanafy places great importance on the accuracy and honesty of all information provided during the hiring process, including details submitted in employment applications, resumes, and other supporting documents. We expect all candidates to provide complete and truthful information about their qualifications, work history, education, and other relevant aspects.

Any falsifications, misrepresentations, or material omissions in the application process may result in immediate disqualification from consideration for employment. Applicants are encouraged to thoroughly review their application materials for accuracy and to ensure that all information provided is complete and up-to-date. Ohanafy values integrity and transparency and seeks to build a workforce based on these principles.

During the hiring process, Ohanafy may conduct background checks, reference checks, and other verifications to ensure the accuracy of the information provided by candidates. Similarly, Ohanafy reserves the right to terminate the employment relationship with any employee at any time, for any reason or without reason, in accordance with applicable laws.

This at-will employment policy means that neither you nor Ohanafy is bound to continue the employment relationship for any specific period. However, this policy does not supersede any contractual agreements that specify otherwise.

Employees are encouraged to discuss any concerns or issues with their supervisor or the Human Resources department to address any potential problems before deciding to resign. Ohanafy values open communication and aims to provide a supportive work environment where employees feel comfortable expressing their needs and concerns.

Please refer to the Employment Termination Policy for detailed information on the procedures and expectations surrounding the termination of employment, including voluntary resignation and company-initiated termination, following the completion of any probationary period.

Ohanafy is committed to treating all employees with respect and fairness throughout the employment relationship and aims to ensure a smooth and professional transition during any termination process.

Definitions of Employee Status

An "employee" of Ohanafy works regularly for the company on a wage or salary basis. This term encompasses exempt, nonexempt, temporary, regular full-time, regular part-time employees, and others under Ohanafy's control and supervision in their duties.

For purposes of this policy, all Ohanafy employees fall within one of the following classifications:

- Full-Time Employees: Employees who regularly work at least 40 hours per week and were not hired on a short-term basis. These employees are entitled to various employment benefits.
- Part-Time Employees: Employees who regularly work fewer than 40 hours per week and were not hired on a short-term basis. These employees do not receive benefits and are paid only for their hours worked.
- Temporary Employees: Employees hired for a specific short-term project or on a short-term freelance, per diem, or temporary basis. Temporary employees generally are not eligible for benefits but are eligible to receive statutory benefits.

Exempt or Non-Exempt

In addition to the above classifications, employees are categorized as either Exempt or Non-Exempt for purposes of federal and state wage and hour laws per the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA).

- Exempt Employees: Employees classified as Exempt do not receive overtime pay as they generally receive the same weekly salary regardless of hours worked. Such salary may be paid less frequently than weekly.
- Non-Exempt Employees: Employees classified as Non-Exempt are eligible for overtime pay according to federal and state wage and hour laws.

Employees will be informed of their classification upon hire and notified of any subsequent changes to their classification.

Section 2. Employment Policies

New Employee Orientation

Ohanafy believes that a thorough and welcoming orientation process is essential for new employees to transition smoothly into their roles. The Human Resources department conducts comprehensive orientations for all new hires, providing a detailed overview of the company's history, vision, mission, values, goals, and objectives.

During the orientation, new employees will receive important information on a variety of topics, including:

- Company Overview: An introduction to Ohanafy's background, key milestones, and our strategic vision for the future.
- Mission and Values: A deep dive into our core mission and values, highlighting what drives our company and how we aim to impact the distribution industry.
- Goals and Objectives: An explanation of our short-term and long-term goals and how each employee's role contributes to achieving these objectives.
- Policies and Procedures: Detailed explanations of key policies and procedures, including attendance, dress code, code of conduct, and other important guidelines.
- Tax and Legal Issues: Information on tax-related matters and compliance with legal requirements to ensure a clear understanding of these important aspects.
- Benefits: An overview of the employee benefits package, including health insurance, paid time off, and other perks.
- Paperwork Assistance: Guidance on completing necessary paperwork, including employment forms, direct deposit setup, and any other required documentation.

New hires will also receive:

- Access Codes, Procedures, and Passwords: Information on how to access company systems, tools, and resources, including login credentials and security protocols.

- Introductions to Staff: Opportunities to meet key team members and colleagues, fostering a sense of community and helping to build relationships within the company.
- Job Scope and Description Reviews: Managers will provide detailed reviews of the new employees' job responsibilities, expectations, and performance metrics to ensure clarity and alignment.

Our goal is to ensure that new employees feel welcomed, informed, and prepared to contribute effectively to their roles from day one. Ohanafy is committed to supporting new hires and providing them with the resources and information needed to succeed and grow within the company.

New Employee Probationary Period

Full-time employees undergo a 60-day probationary period. This period serves as an evaluation between the employee and the company to ensure a good fit between the parties.

During the probationary period, the company may terminate employment without notice and cause. This period allows the employee and the employer to assess if the employment relationship meets expectations.

Upon completion of the 60-day probationary period, a comprehensive performance review is conducted. This review evaluates the employee's job performance, integration into the team, and overall alignment with company values and expectations. Successful completion of the probationary period signifies that the employee has met the required standards and will continue as a regular employee.

If there are areas that require improvement, the company may extend the probationary period or take other appropriate actions. Feedback will be provided to help the employee understand expectations and improve performance.

Ohanafy is committed to supporting new employees through this transition period and providing the necessary resources and guidance for success.

Non-discrimination, Inclusion, and Diversity

Ohanafy is committed to fostering an inclusive and respectful work environment. We do not discriminate in employment based on race, sex, national origin, ethnicity, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, marital status, genetic information, military status, or any other characteristic protected by applicable federal, state, or local laws.

In addition to complying with all applicable laws, we actively promote diversity and inclusion through our policies, practices, and training programs. Any form of harassment or discrimination is strictly prohibited and will be met with appropriate disciplinary action, which may include immediate termination.

Employees who believe they have been subjected to discrimination or harassment are encouraged to report their concerns to their supervisor promptly, the Human Resources department, or through the designated reporting channels. All complaints will be thoroughly investigated and addressed promptly, ensuring confidentiality to the extent possible.

Nondisclosure and Confidentiality Agreement

Safeguarding trade secrets and confidential information is crucial for Ohanafy's success and competitive advantage. All employees are required to sign a nondisclosure agreement (NDA) as a condition of employment, acknowledging their responsibility to protect the company's proprietary information.

Confidential information includes but is not limited to, business plans, customer lists, financial data, marketing strategies, product designs, research and development, trade secrets, and any other information that is not publicly available and provides Ohanafy with a business advantage.

Employees must understand that unauthorized disclosure or use of confidential information or trade secrets, whether intentional or accidental, may result in serious disciplinary action, including termination of employment and potential legal consequences. This obligation to maintain confidentiality extends beyond the duration of employment with Ohanafy.

Employees are required to:

- Use confidential information only for legitimate business purposes.
- Protect and safeguard confidential information from unauthorized access, use, or disclosure.
- Refrain from discussing confidential information in public places or with individuals who do not have a need to know.
- Return all confidential information in their possession upon termination of employment or upon request by the company.

Ohanafy takes the protection of its confidential information seriously and will take appropriate legal action to enforce its rights and protect its interests.

Employees who have questions about their obligations under the nondisclosure agreement or who become aware of any potential or actual breaches of confidentiality should immediately report these concerns to their supervisor or the Human Resources department.

Immigration Law Compliance

Ohanafy is committed to complying with all applicable immigration laws to ensure a lawful and inclusive workplace environment. Here's how we ensure compliance:

- New employees must complete the Employment Eligibility Verification Form I-9 and provide the required documentation to verify their eligibility to work in the United States.
- Ohanafy adheres to the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, employing individuals authorized to work in the United States.
- Rehired employees may need to complete a new I-9 form if their previous form is outdated or unavailable, ensuring continued compliance with immigration regulations.
- As a condition of employment, all employees must complete the I-9 form and present the required documents for examination within three (3) business days of the date employment begins.

Gusto: Our HR Platform

At Ohanafy, we use Gusto as our all-in-one HR platform to manage everything related to human resources. Gusto is an essential tool that helps us streamline our HR processes and provides employees with easy access to the resources they need.

Payroll and Compensation

Gusto automates our payroll process, ensuring that everyone is paid accurately and on time. Through Gusto, employees can access their paystubs, tax documents, and year-end forms like W-2s. The platform also handles all tax filings and deductions, simplifying the payroll process for both employees and management.

Benefits Administration

We manage all employee benefits through Gusto. This includes health insurance, 401(k) plans, and other perks offered by Ohanafy. Employees can easily enroll in, update, and manage their benefits directly through the platform.

Onboarding

Gusto provides a seamless onboarding experience for new hires. New employees complete all necessary paperwork, sign documents, and receive an introduction to our company policies and culture via the platform. This helps new team members get up to speed quickly and efficiently.

Time Tracking and PTO

Employees are responsible for logging their hours and managing their paid time off (PTO) through Gusto. The platform tracks work hours and PTO balances, making it simple to request time off and stay organized.

Work Hours & Remote Work

At Ohanafy, we value work-life balance and strive to maintain clear expectations regarding work hours. Our standard operating hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding designated holidays.

Flexibility in work hours may be available depending on job responsibilities and departmental needs. Employees who require adjustments to their work schedules should discuss their needs with their supervisor well in advance. Ohanafy is committed to accommodating reasonable requests for flexible work arrangements whenever possible while ensuring operational efficiency and meeting customer needs.

By adhering to these guidelines, we ensure a productive work environment where employees can effectively manage their responsibilities and contribute to Ohanafy's success.

Ohanafy reserves the right to adjust an employee's hours as needed to accommodate a demand for certain projects and deadlines. In no way are the hours mentioned herein a guarantee of the hours you may be working.

Working Remotely

Ohanafy is committed to maintaining a productive and efficient work environment, even while our team operates remotely. During this time, all employees are expected to uphold the same standards of professionalism, productivity, and engagement as they would in an office setting.

Remote Work Guidelines

1. Professionalism: Remote employees should present themselves professionally on all virtual meetings and conferences, including adhering to the dress code that aligns with company standards.
2. Responsiveness: Employees are expected to be available and responsive during standard work hours, with timely responses to emails, phone calls, and messages. Regular check-ins with supervisors and team members are required to keep projects on track.
3. Accountability: Employees should be prepared to report daily progress on tasks and meet all deadlines. Supervisors may request regular status updates to ensure alignment with team goals and responsibilities.
4. Work Environment: Employees should have a quiet, dedicated workspace free from distractions to facilitate focus and productivity. Scheduling personal errands or non-work activities during work hours is strongly discouraged.

5. Data Security: Remote employees must follow all data security protocols rigorously, including using VPNs, secure networks, and password protection to safeguard proprietary and client information. Unauthorized sharing or mismanagement of company data will be subject to disciplinary action.
6. Time Management: Employees are expected to manage their time effectively to complete tasks within regular work hours. Use of time-tracking software or regular check-ins may be required to ensure productivity and accountability.

Performance Standards

All remote employees are held to the same performance standards as in-office employees. Any observed lapses in productivity, responsiveness, or adherence to company policies may lead to review and corrective action as necessary.

Attendance and Punctuality

At Ohanafy, every employee plays a vital role in our success, and our ability to thrive as a team depends on the dedication and reliability of each individual. That's why we place a high value on attendance and punctuality. Unnecessary absences and tardiness can disrupt our workflow, increase costs, and put extra pressure on your teammates and supervisors. We expect all employees to demonstrate excellent attendance. Excessive absenteeism or tardiness may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

We understand that there are times when being late or absent is unavoidable. In these situations, it's important to notify your supervisor as soon as possible, ideally before the start of your workday. It's your responsibility to make this call personally—asking a colleague, friend, or family member to report your absence is not acceptable and could result in disciplinary action. When you call in, please provide the reason for your absence and how long you expect to be out.

If you are absent for three (3) consecutive workdays without notifying us, we'll assume you've chosen to resign, which will be considered job abandonment. This could affect your eligibility for rehire in the future.

For absences of three or more consecutive days due to illness, you may be asked to provide a doctor's note. If you're out for seven or more consecutive days due to illness or injury, a doctor's note confirming your ability to perform your job's essential functions, with or without accommodations, will be required before you can return to work.

For more details on absences, please refer to the Paid Time Off (PTO) section of this handbook.

Lunch Periods

At Ohanafy, we recognize the importance of taking breaks to recharge and maintain productivity throughout the workday. Employees are provided a lunch break, typically between 12:00 p.m. and 1:00 p.m.

During this lunch period, employees are encouraged to step away from their workstations, relax, and enjoy their meals. While Ohanafy provides a designated lunch period, we also understand that occasional adjustments may be necessary to accommodate business needs or personal schedules.

Employees should coordinate any deviations from the standard lunch schedule with their supervisor or team leader to ensure operational continuity and team collaboration. We encourage open communication and flexibility to accommodate individual preferences whenever possible.

It is important for employees to adhere to their scheduled lunch periods to ensure efficient workflow and respect for colleagues' schedules. By taking regular breaks, employees can maintain focus and energy levels throughout the workday.

Emergency Closings

The safety and well-being of our employees are of utmost importance. In the event of emergency situations such as fires, severe weather, or power failures, executive staff will assess the circumstances and make decisions regarding office closures or altered work arrangements.

Employees will be promptly notified of any emergency closures or changes to work schedules by their supervisors or through official communication channels. It is important for employees to maintain updated contact information to ensure they receive timely notifications during such situations.

During an emergency closure, employees may be instructed to work remotely, if feasible, or to follow specific instructions provided by their supervisors or department heads. Ohanafy is committed to ensuring the continuity of operations while prioritizing the safety and security of all employees.

In the event of an emergency, the company will provide updates and guidance as the situation evolves to ensure everyone's safety and well-being.

Employee Personnel Files

Employee personnel files are maintained to ensure accurate and confidential record-keeping. These files contain relevant documents such as job applications, resumes, salary history, performance evaluations, training records, and disciplinary actions, among others.

Access to employee personnel files is restricted to authorized management personnel on a need-to-know basis for legitimate business purposes, such as staffing decisions, performance evaluations, promotions, and compliance with legal requirements. All access and handling of personnel information are conducted in accordance with applicable privacy laws and company policies.

Employees have the right to request access to their own personnel files upon reasonable notice. Requests should be directed to the Human Resources department, and employees may review their files in the presence of HR personnel to ensure confidentiality and accuracy.

It is important to note that personnel files are confidential and sensitive information. Unauthorized access, use, or disclosure of information contained in these files is strictly prohibited and may result in disciplinary action, including termination of employment and legal consequences.

Personnel Data Changes

Employees are responsible for promptly notifying their supervisor or the Human Resources department of any changes to their personal information. These changes may include:

- Mailing address
- Telephone number
- Name (in case of legal name changes)
- Number of dependents for benefits purposes
- Emergency contacts

Maintaining accurate and current personal data is crucial for payroll processing, benefits administration, emergency contact procedures, and other essential communications within the company. Employees are encouraged to review their personal information periodically and update it to reflect any changes.

To update personal information, employees should complete the appropriate forms within Gusto. It is important to ensure that all updates are communicated accurately and promptly to prevent any disruptions in payroll processing or benefits administration.

Performance Review

Managers conduct annual performance reviews with employees, providing a structured opportunity to discuss job performance, progress on goals, and professional development.

In addition to formal reviews, supervisors may conduct quarterly performance reviews more frequently to provide ongoing feedback and support employee growth. These informal check-ins are valuable for addressing immediate concerns, celebrating achievements, and exploring opportunities for improvement.

Performance reviews are a collaborative process aimed at aligning individual contributions with organizational goals. During these reviews, employees and supervisors discuss:

- Current job responsibilities and tasks
- Progress toward achieving work goals and objectives
- Strengths, accomplishments, and areas for improvement
- Development opportunities and career aspirations
- Feedback on performance, including recognition and constructive criticism

Performance outcomes directly influence wage and salary increases and opportunities for career advancement within Ohanafy. Employees can expect that their yearly performance reviews will have a direct impact on their compensation and professional development opportunities. Ohanafy retains full discretion in how to factor in a performance review into an employee's compensation, which includes any and all salary raises and/or bonuses.

Performance Improvement Plan (PIP)

At Ohanafy, we are committed to the growth and success of our employees. When performance issues arise, we believe in providing clear guidance and support to help employees improve and meet the expectations of their role. The Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) is a structured process designed to identify performance issues, outline necessary improvements, and support employees in achieving their goals.

The purpose of the PIP is to:

- Identify specific areas of performance that need improvement.
- Provide clear, measurable objectives and expectations.
- Offer support and resources to help employees meet these expectations.
- Monitor progress and provide feedback throughout the improvement period.

Initiating a Performance Improvement Plan

A PIP may be initiated when an employee's performance does not meet the established standards for their role. This can include issues related to job performance, attendance, behavior, or other areas impacting their ability to fulfill their duties effectively.

Performance Improvement Plan Process

1. Assessment and Documentation:

- The supervisor will assess the employee's performance and document specific areas needing improvement.
- Examples of performance issues and the impact on the team and organization will be included.
- 2. Developing the PIP:
 - The supervisor, in collaboration with the HR department, will develop a PIP outlining the following:
 - Specific performance issues.
 - Clear, measurable objectives for improvement.
 - Actions the employee must take to achieve these objectives.
 - A timeline for achieving the improvements (typically 14 or 30 days)
 - Support and resources available to the employee (e.g., training, mentoring).
- 3. Review Meeting:
 - A meeting will be scheduled with the employee, their supervisor, and/or an HR representative to discuss the PIP.
 - The plan will be reviewed in detail, and the employee will have an opportunity to ask questions and provide input.
- 4. Implementation and Monitoring:
 - The employee will begin working on the improvement plan, with regular check-ins scheduled to monitor progress.
 - The supervisor will provide ongoing feedback, support, and any additional resources as needed.
- 5. Evaluation:
 - At the end of the improvement period, the employee's progress will be evaluated against the objectives outlined in the PIP.
 - A meeting will be held to discuss the results and determine next steps, which may include:
 - Successful completion of the PIP and removal from the plan.
 - Extension of the PIP if additional time is needed.
 - Further action if performance has not improved, which may include reassignment or termination.

Employee Responsibilities

Employees on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) are expected to:

- Fully engage with the plan and make a genuine effort to improve performance.
- Seek clarification and ask for help when needed.
- Attend all scheduled meetings and check-ins.
- Utilize the resources and support provided.

Supervisor Responsibilities

Supervisors are expected to:

- Clearly communicate performance expectations and objectives.
- Provide constructive feedback and regular updates on progress.
- Offer support and resources to aid the employee's improvement.
- Document all stages of the PIP process.

By working together, we aim to help employees reach their full potential and contribute positively to Ohanafy's success. For any questions or additional information about the PIP process, please contact the HR department.

Work Safety

We are committed to providing a safe and healthy work environment.

Ohanafy ensures employees receive training on safety protocols and procedures relevant to their roles. It is mandatory for employees to promptly report any unsafe conditions, hazards, or accidents to their supervisor or the Human Resources department. This proactive reporting helps us maintain a safe workplace for everyone.

We aim to create a workplace where every employee feels secure and empowered to contribute to our mission without compromising their well-being. Any workplace injury, accident, or illness must be reported to the employee's supervisor as soon as possible, regardless of the severity of the injury or accident.

Health Issues

Employees are encouraged to promptly notify their supervisors or HR representatives of any health issues that may impact their work performance or require accommodations.

Documentation may be required for any necessary leave of absence due to medical reasons, including sick leave or medical treatment. Our company respects employee privacy and handles health-related information with confidentiality and sensitivity.

By proactively addressing health issues, we aim to support our employees' overall well-being and ensure a productive work environment. Open communication is essential, and employees can rely on our commitment to providing appropriate support and accommodations when needed.

If an employee requires medical attention

If an employee requires medical attention, the employee's physician must be notified immediately. If it is necessary for the employee to be seen by a doctor or go to the hospital, a family member will be called to transport the employee to the appropriate facility.

Due to potential liabilities, Ohanafy's employees will not be responsible for transporting another employee.

The employee will be responsible for transportation charges when an emergency requires Emergency Medical Services to evaluate the employee on-site.

Building Security

Ohanafy prioritizes the security of its premises and assets to ensure a safe working environment for all employees. To maintain security standards:

- Employees are prohibited from accessing company property after regular business hours without proper authorization.
- Designated employees are responsible for closing procedures and implementing security measures outlined in company protocols.
- Employees issued work keys are accountable for their safekeeping and must use them responsibly.

- Employees are responsible to take caution for who they open the HQ door for. If unsure, ask your manager to assist.

These measures help safeguard our facilities, equipment, and confidential information. Violations of building security policies may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, depending on the severity of the breach.

Company Supplies and Expenditures

Responsible use of company resources is essential to maintaining operational efficiency and financial integrity. Therefore:

- Employees not involved in purchasing activities must obtain written or verbal approval from their manager or supervisor before making any purchases on behalf of Ohanafy.
- Any company-related expenditures require authorization from a manager or supervisor to ensure they align with budgetary guidelines and operational needs.

By obtaining prior approval, employees contribute to responsible spending practices and support Ohanafy's commitment to fiscal responsibility and resource management.

Expense Reimbursement

Ohanafy reimburses employees for authorized business expenses incurred during their duties. Here's how the reimbursement process works:

- Reimbursements will be processed and included in the employee's next regular paycheck.
- Employees should submit reimbursement request forms through Gusto, our designated platform for payroll and employee benefits.
- Supervisors must provide prior approval for expenses to ensure they are within company policy and budgetary limits.

Timely submission of reimbursement requests and adherence to expense approval procedures help streamline the reimbursement process and ensure accuracy in financial records.

Visitors in the workplace

We prioritize the safety, security, and productivity of our workplace. Therefore:

- Only authorized visitors are permitted on company premises. This policy helps safeguard the well-being of employees, visitors, and facilities.
- Restricting unauthorized access helps protect confidential information, reduce insurance liability, ensure employee welfare, and minimize workplace distractions.
- Authorized visitors are not permitted outside of operating hours, unless given express permission from Ohanafy leadership. This is to ensure the safety of other employees who may also be present in the workspace.

Employees are encouraged to report any unauthorized individuals to Human Resources or their supervisor immediately to maintain a secure and productive work environment.

Hiring Relatives/Employee Relationships

At Ohanafy, we recognize that personal and familial relationships among employees can create potential conflicts of interest, particularly when one employee has influence over another's employment conditions, such as in supervisory roles. To maintain a fair and unbiased work environment, Ohanafy may decline to hire or place a relative in a position where favoritism or conflicts could arise.

In situations where personal relationships present an actual or potential conflict of interest, even if no direct supervisory relationship exists, Ohanafy may choose to reassign or, in some cases, terminate the employment of one or both parties involved. Therefore, it is required that all parties involved in any type of intimate personal relationship notify management.

If two employees marry, become related, or enter into an intimate relationship, they may not continue in a reporting relationship or hold positions where one individual can affect the compensation or employment terms of the other. Ohanafy will make an effort to find alternate positions within the company, but if no suitable position is available, the company reserves the right to determine which employee will remain.

Supervisors are strictly prohibited from dating or engaging in romantic or sexual relationships with employees who report directly or indirectly to them or work within the same department. Should such a relationship develop, both employees are required to notify the Chief People Officer.

The terms "dating" and "romantic relationships" include, but are not limited to, casual dating, serious dating, casual sexual involvement, cohabitation, and any other behavior typically associated with romantic or sexual relationships.

For the purposes of this policy, a relative is defined as anyone related by blood or marriage or whose relationship with the employee is similar to that of a family member.

Company Equipment

Employees are provided with a company-issued equipment to support their work responsibilities. Specifically:

Company-Issued Equipment

Each employee is assigned a company-issued laptop and any other necessary equipment, which are designated exclusively for business purposes. These devices are the property of Ohanafy and must be handled with the utmost care and responsibility. Our goal is to maintain the highest standards of operational efficiency, data security, and compliance with company policies.

Proper Use and Security

Employees are expected to:

- Use for Business Purposes: Your company-issued equipment is intended solely for business-related activities. Personal use should be minimal and must not interfere with work duties or violate company policies.
- Safeguard Equipment: Employees are responsible for the security and proper use of company-issued equipment. This includes protecting devices from theft, loss, damage, or unauthorized access. Ensure that your laptop is secured with strong passwords, kept up to date with security patches, and that sensitive information is encrypted when necessary.
- Report Issues Promptly: If any company-issued equipment is lost, stolen, or damaged, employees must report it immediately to their supervisor or the IT department. Prompt reporting helps us take necessary actions to protect our data and resources.

Separation from Employment

Upon separation from Ohanafy, it is crucial that all company-issued equipment is returned promptly to ensure the protection of our sensitive information and intellectual property. Specifically:

- Return of Equipment: Employees must return their company-issued laptop and any other equipment to their supervisor or HR on or before their final day of employment. This allows us to securely retrieve and manage any company data on the devices.
- Provision of Login Credentials: In addition to returning physical equipment, employees are required to provide any necessary login credentials to Human Resources. This ensures that we can access and secure company data without delay, protecting both the company and the departing employee.

Compliance and Accountability

Ohanafy takes the use and security of our equipment seriously. Failure to adhere to this policy may result in disciplinary action, including potential financial responsibility for lost or damaged equipment. We trust our employees to use these tools with the professionalism and integrity that reflects the core values of Ohanafy.

By following these guidelines, we can collectively maintain a secure and efficient working environment that protects our resources and supports our business operations.

Cyber Security

Employees are responsible for taking the proper measures to ensure confidential information remains secure. This includes, but is not limited to:

- Locking Computers: Always lock your computer when it is not in use to prevent unauthorized access.
- Password Management: Update your passwords regularly and use strong, unique passwords for different accounts. Avoid using easily guessable passwords such as "123456" or "password."
- Phishing Awareness: Be vigilant about phishing attempts. Do not click on suspicious links or download attachments from unknown sources. Verify the sender's identity before responding to unexpected emails or messages.
- Secure Networks: Use secure, encrypted networks for accessing company data, especially when working remotely. Avoid using public Wi-Fi for accessing sensitive information unless connected through a virtual private network (VPN).
- Software Updates: Regularly update your software, including operating systems, applications to protect against vulnerabilities and malware.
- Physical Security: Protect physical access to company devices and documents. Store sensitive documents in locked cabinets and use privacy screens on monitors if working in public spaces.
- Reporting Incidents: Immediately report any suspected security breaches, lost or stolen devices, or unauthorized access to IT support or your manager. Prompt reporting can help mitigate potential damage.
- Confidential Information: Handle confidential information with care. Only share sensitive data with authorized personnel and ensure that it is transmitted securely.

By adhering to these guidelines, employees can help protect the company's digital assets and maintain a secure working environment.

Section 3. Wage and Salary Policies

Wage or Salary Increases

We recognize the importance of fair and competitive compensation for our employees. Here's how we handle wage or salary increases:

- Employee wages undergo periodic review, typically annually, before the employee's annual performance review. Review dates are usually set around the employment anniversary or the previous compensation review date.
- Wage or salary reviews may occur more frequently based on business needs or significant changes in job responsibilities.
- Increases may include, but are not limited to: performance evaluations, market benchmarks, and business performance to ensure equitable and sustainable compensation practices.

Ohanafy makes no guarantee it will provide any raises, increases in compensation, or bonuses at the conclusion of a fiscal year. Any compensation decision must be decided based on variety of factors and remain in Ohanafy's full discretion.

Equity

At Ohanafy, we believe that equity is a vital component of our compensation strategy, serving as a long-term wealth creator and fostering a sense of ownership in our company. Here's an overview of how our equity program works:

Equity Overview

Within ninety (90) days of joining Ohanafy, you will receive an invitation through our equity management system, Carta. This platform will guide you through the process of signing any equity documents related to the options you've been awarded. Carta is also where you can manage your options throughout your employment.

Types of Equity

Ohanafy grants equity in the form of options, which may be either Incentive Stock Options (ISOs) or Non-Qualified Stock Options (NSOs):

- ISOs: Designed for employees, ISOs offer potential tax benefits but come with specific requirements, such as holding periods.
- NSOs: These options can be offered to both employees and non-employees, like consultants, and typically don't provide the same tax benefits as ISOs.

Both types of options are issued at a strike price that is equivalent to the current Fair Market Value (FMV) of the company's shares.

Vesting Schedule

Our standard vesting schedule is designed to align with your long-term growth at Ohanafy:

- Four-Year Vesting with a One-Year Cliff: No options vest during the first year. After one year, 25% of the total options will vest, and the remaining 75% will vest monthly over the next three years at a rate of 1/36th per month.

Exercising Your Options

You can exercise your options at any time after they have vested. However, it's crucial to consult your CPA or tax advisor before making any decisions, as the timing of exercising can impact your tax situation. Options can be exercised at:

- Time of Vesting: May provide certain tax benefits.
- Time of Sale: Often involves a "sell to cover" strategy to manage costs.

Exercising at Termination

In the event of termination, whether voluntary or involuntary, you have thirty (30) days from your last day at Ohanafy to exercise or purchase your options. This can be done through Carta, ensuring you have ample support during this transition.

Equity Grants

Equity is a significant part of Ohanafy's compensation strategy. It extends beyond salary and represents a long-term investment in your future and the future of Ohanafy. During your initial onboarding, as well as at times of promotion or performance reviews, your equity package will be reevaluated. You may become eligible for receiving additional equity grants, further solidifying your role and investment in our company's success.

Timekeeping

Accurate timekeeping is essential for payroll accuracy and compliance. Here's how we manage timekeeping at Ohanafy:

Commissions & Payout Structure

We value performance-based compensation for eligible employees. Here's how we handle commissions and payout structure:

- Payment Collection: Commissions are paid out upon the Ohanafy finance team collecting funds from customers.
- Payout Timing: Commission payouts are processed on the next scheduled pay period following the payment collection date to allow adequate time for finance team reconciliation and payment processing.

- Performance Tracking: Employees are encouraged to regularly review their performance and commission reports. Any discrepancies should be reported to the finance team promptly for resolution.

By adhering to this structured approach, Ohanafy aims to maintain a clear, fair, and efficient system for commission payouts, reinforcing our commitment to rewarding performance and fostering a transparent work environment.

Commission Clawbacks

To maintain fair compensation practices and align incentives with long-term customer satisfaction, Ohanafy enforces a commission clawback policy:

- In the event that a customer cancels a contract or disputes payment after a commission has been paid to an employee, Ohanafy reserves the right to reclaim a portion or all of the commission earned on that transaction. By accepting a commission, the employee expressly agrees that it has consented to being subject to any of the following methods to retrieve the funds should Ohanafy deem such action appropriate: a debt collector, a court of competent jurisdiction in New Hanover County North Carolina, or any other method at the express direction of Ohanafy.
- This policy aims to uphold accountability and ensure that commissions accurately reflect the company's revenue and customer relationships over time.

Employees can rely on this policy framework to guide their expectations around commission earnings and customer engagement outcomes.

Our community involvement is a vital part of Ohanafy's culture. By participating in local initiatives, we aim to create a lasting impact, strengthen team connections, and reinforce our shared commitment to social responsibility.

Section 4. Code of Ethics and Code of Conduct

Workplace Conduct

Ohanafy is committed to fostering a positive, respectful, and productive work environment. Our success depends on the collaborative efforts of every team member, and maintaining high standards of conduct is crucial for achieving this goal. This section outlines the expectations for workplace behavior and the standards we uphold to ensure a harmonious and efficient workplace.

General Conduct

All employees are expected to conduct themselves professionally and courteously at all times. This includes:

- Respect and Civility: Treating colleagues, clients, and visitors with respect, kindness, and fairness.
- Team Collaboration: Engaging in constructive teamwork and communication, and being open to feedback.
- Workplace Etiquette: Following workplace norms and etiquette, including punctuality, proper use of company resources, and maintaining a tidy and organized work area.

To maintain a productive and respectful workplace, employees must adhere to the following guidelines:

- Confidentiality: Never share or discuss confidential information, trade secrets, or company matters on public forums.
- Respectful Interactions: Harassment, discriminatory remarks, or unprofessional behavior directed at colleagues, customers, or competitors will not be tolerated, even outside of work channels.

Employees found to be in violation of this policy may face disciplinary action. For questions or clarifications on social media usage, please contact Human Resources.

Employee Disciplinary Action Policy

If an employee commits an irresponsible act or does not follow Ohanafy's policies or procedures, disciplinary action may be taken. All disciplinary actions will be handled as confidentially and fairly as possible, with respect for each individual's rights. In conjunction with the Chief People Officer, all disciplinary actions will be addressed by the employee's supervisor. Ohanafy will consider each situation presented and the relevant surrounding circumstances, including the employee's past performance, conduct, and disciplinary history. Progressive discipline may or may not be used.

If performance continues to be below expectations, the employee may be put on a Performance Improvement Plan if the supervisor feels this is the most appropriate course of action.

The following is a list of the types of disciplinary action that can be initiated by the employee's supervisor. The type of action taken and the order in which it is taken depends upon the seriousness of the incident and the employee's past performance and conduct:

- Verbal Warning
- Written Reprimand
- Termination

Verbal Warning If a situation warrants a verbal warning or counseling, the supervisor should schedule and conduct this as soon as reasonably possible and convenient for both parties. Supervisors should clearly communicate the issues and expectations to the employee.

The supervisor should document this conversation informally, noting the date and time and a brief summary of what was discussed. This documentation can be an email to oneself or to the Human Resources Director for future reference.

Written Reprimand If a verbal warning does not result in the expected improvement, or if more severe initial action is warranted, the supervisor, in conjunction with the Chief People Officer, shall issue an official written reprimand. This document should outline the rules or policies violated, general conduct issues, and a timeline for resolution. It should also state that further disciplinary action, up to and including termination, may occur if the issues are not resolved. The supervisor and the employee shall both sign this document. A copy will be provided to the Human Resources Director and placed in the employee's personnel file.

Termination When other disciplinary actions have not resolved the issue(s) or if more severe action is warranted, lawful termination of employment may occur. Depending on the circumstances, an employee may be given the opportunity to resign rather than be terminated. In conjunction with the Chief People Officer, the supervisor will navigate the termination process by preparing and meeting directly with the employee, explaining the circumstances leading to the termination and the final decision, and answering any questions the employee may have. Generally, the Chief People Officer should be involved in this meeting to assist both parties and help answer any questions.

Reasons for Disciplinary Action Disciplinary actions can be taken for, but are not limited to, the following reasons:

- Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duties.
- Addiction to narcotics or intoxicants; public intoxication or drinking of intoxicating beverages while on duty; being under the influence of drugs or narcotics while on duty.
- Making false statements of any material fact or practicing deception.
- Theft, destruction, carelessness, or negligence in the use of Ohanafy property.

- Disgraceful personal conduct or language toward the public, supervisor, or colleagues; abusive public criticism of the same, including on social media.
- Unauthorized absences or abuse of leave privileges.
- Falsification of records or information.
- Violation of any lawful and reasonable regulation, order, or direction made or given by a supervisor; insubordination constituting a serious breach of discipline.
- Fighting on the job, engaging in threatening or harassing behavior towards anyone.
- Dishonesty, intemperance, immoral conduct, insubordination, unsatisfactory performance of duties, failure to adhere to Ohanafy rules and policies or other written/verbal instructions, any other willful failure to conduct oneself properly, or any willful violation of the provisions of the Company Handbook.
- Conviction of a felony, a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or a misdemeanor reflecting upon the ability to perform work for which a jail sentence is imposed.
- Any other act or failure to act, which in the judgment of the supervisor or Ohanafy management is sufficient to show that the person is an unsuitable and unfit employee.

Tobacco & Drug-Free Workplace

Tobacco products

Within the Ohanafy office space, smoking and the use of smokeless tobacco products, including the use of e-cigarettes, is prohibited.

Drug-Free Workplace

To protect our team and company property, and to maintain efficient operations, Ohanafy upholds a strict policy of maintaining a workplace free of drugs. This policy applies to all employees and individuals who perform work for Ohanafy.

The unlawful or unauthorized use, abuse, solicitation, theft, possession, transfer, purchase, sale, or distribution of controlled substances (including medical marijuana), drug paraphernalia, or alcohol by anyone at Ohanafy, while conducting Ohanafy business (whether on or off-premises), or while representing Ohanafy, is strictly prohibited.

Employees and others working for Ohanafy are also prohibited from reporting to work or working under the influence of any controlled substances that could impair their ability to perform their job safely or effectively. The only exception is for medications taken as prescribed by a licensed medical practitioner, who has authorized the employee to work. However, this does not extend to the use of medical marijuana, which cannot be used as a defense for a positive drug test unless permitted by applicable law. Responsible consumption of alcohol at business meetings or related social events is allowed within reason.

Prescription Drugs

This policy does not prevent employees from taking medication prescribed to them by a licensed medical practitioner or using over-the-counter medications. However, employees should be aware of any side effects that might interfere with their ability to safely perform their job duties. If there are any concerns or questions about these effects, employees must notify their supervisor before starting work.

Prescription and over-the-counter drugs are not prohibited when taken in standard dosages or according to a physician's prescription. Employees are responsible for consulting their physician or pharmacist to understand whether their medication could impair their job performance. If medication use could compromise the safety of the employee, coworkers, or the public, it is the employee's responsibility to take appropriate action, such as calling in sick, using leave, requesting a change of duty, and/or notifying their supervisor.

Reasonable Suspicion Testing

Ohanafy reserves the right to require reasonable suspicion testing for illegal drugs or alcohol if warranted. If a supervisor has reasonable suspicion that an employee has engaged in conduct prohibited under this policy, the employee will be required to undergo a drug and/or alcohol test. The Chief People Officer will be notified as soon as possible. Employees suspected of impairment will not be allowed to drive or perform any health or safety-related functions until a follow-up test confirms they are fit to work.

Refusal to Submit to a Test

At Ohanafy, we take the safety and well-being of our team seriously. If an employee or job applicant refuses to submit to a required drug or alcohol test, Ohanafy reserves the right to take disciplinary action, up to and including termination, or to decline to hire the applicant. Refusing to take a required drug or alcohol test will be considered misconduct and may result in the forfeiture of workers' compensation benefits.

Violations of this policy will lead to disciplinary action, which could include termination.

Ohanafy is committed to maintaining a policy of non-discrimination and will make reasonable accommodations to support individuals recovering from substance and alcohol dependencies, as well as those with a medical history of substance abuse treatment. However, employees cannot request an accommodation as a means to avoid discipline for violating this policy.

We strongly encourage employees to seek help before substance abuse or alcohol misuse affects their ability to perform their job or endangers their own health and safety, or that of others at Ohanafy.

Harassment and Sexual Harassment

At Ohanafy, it is our policy to prohibit any form of harassment, whether intentional or unintentional, based on any protected classification, including but not limited to race, color, national origin, disability, religion, marital status, veteran status, sexual orientation, or age. This policy isn't about regulating personal morality—it's about ensuring that every employee feels safe and respected at work.

Harassment is defined as verbal or physical conduct that demeans or shows hostility or aversion toward an individual because of their protected characteristic(s), and that:

- Creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working environment.
- Unreasonably interferes with an individual's work performance.
- Negatively impacts an individual's employment opportunities.

- Distribution of written or graphic material that shows hostility or aversion toward an individual or group because of protected characteristics (including emails and text messages).
- Verbal or non-verbal innuendos that demean someone because of their protected characteristic(s).

Sexual harassment involves:

- Making unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other offensive verbal or physical conduct based on someone's sex.
- Using submission to or rejection of such conduct as the basis for employment decisions.
- Creating an intimidating, offensive, or hostile work environment through such conduct.

Conduct that could be considered sexual harassment includes, but is not limited to:

- Verbal: Sexual innuendos, suggestive comments, insults, threats, jokes about gender-specific traits, or sexual propositions.
- Non-verbal: Making suggestive or insulting noises, leering, whistling, or making obscene gestures.
- Physical: Touching, pinching, brushing against the body, coercing sexual acts, or assault.

Such forms of harassment or retaliation may be considered discrimination under various federal, state, and/or local laws, which Ohanafy will not tolerate. Any employee found to have engaged in such conduct will face disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Violence in the Workplace

Ohanafy is deeply committed to providing a safe, healthy, and supportive environment for all our employees. The purpose of this policy is to minimize the risk of personal injury to our team members and damage to both company and personal property, ensuring that everyone feels secure while working at Ohanafy.

- Weapons Prohibition: To the extent permitted by law, employees and visitors are prohibited from bringing guns or other weapons onto Ohanafy premises.

Reporting Procedures

If you encounter a potentially dangerous situation, including threats from co-workers, it is crucial to report it immediately to any member of management with whom you feel comfortable or to law enforcement authorities. While we will strive to maintain confidentiality, it is essential that this does not impede our ability to investigate and address the situation.

All reports of threats will be promptly and thoroughly investigated. We expect full cooperation from all employees during these investigations. No employee will face retaliation, intimidation, or disciplinary action for reporting a threat in good faith under this policy.

If, after a thorough investigation, we determine that someone has violated this policy, Ohanafy will take swift and appropriate corrective action to ensure the safety and well-being of our team.

External Threats

If you receive a threat from someone outside the company, please follow the same reporting procedures. It is crucial for us to be aware of any potential dangers to our workplace, and we are committed to taking effective measures to protect everyone at Ohanafy from any potential acts of violence.

COBRA Benefits

The Federal Consolidated Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) allows employees and qualified beneficiaries to continue health insurance coverage under Ohanafy's health plan when a "qualifying event" would normally result in a loss of eligibility.

Common qualifying events include:

- Resignation.
- Termination of employment.
- Death of an employee.
- Reduction in an employee's hours.
- Leave of absence.
- Divorce or legal separation.
- A dependent child no longer meets eligibility requirements.

Under COBRA, the employee or beneficiary pays the full cost of coverage at Ohanafy's group rates plus an administrative fee. Ohanafy provides each eligible employee with a notice from Gusto describing rights under COBRA when the employee becomes eligible for coverage under Ohanafy's health insurance plan.

401(k) Retirement Savings Plan

Ohanafy offers a 401(k) retirement savings plan through Guideline to help you save for your future. Participating in this plan can provide financial security for your retirement years by allowing you to save and invest a portion of your paycheck before taxes.

Eligibility

All full-time employees who have completed Ninety (90) days of service are eligible to participate in the 401(k) plan. You will be automatically enrolled in the plan upon meeting the eligibility requirements unless you choose to opt out.

Employee Contributions

You may contribute a percentage of your salary to your 401(k) account, up to the maximum limit allowed by federal law. You can choose to contribute on a pre-tax or after-tax (Roth) basis. While our company does not offer matching contributions at this time, contributing to your 401(k) can help you build substantial savings over time.

Enrollment and Changes

Eligible employees will receive information on how to enroll in the 401(k) plan. You can change your contribution amount, investment options, or other aspects of your 401(k) account through Gusto, our HR platform, during open enrollment periods or as allowed by the plan rules.

Resources and Support

For more information about the 401(k) plan, including detailed plan documents and resources, please contact Guideline customer service or Ohanafy's HR department or plan administrator. They can provide you with the necessary information and support.

Time Off

We value work-life balance to regular full-time employees. Here's how we manage time off:

PTO is accrued each quarter. Although you accrue time from your first day of employment, employees shall not be able to take PTO during your first month of employment unless there is an extenuating circumstance or an event that was planned prior to employment. In any event, this should be discussed and approved by your supervisor and communicated with the Human Resources Director.

- Paid Vacation: Regular full-time employees are eligible for twenty (20) days of paid vacation time per year.
 - Unused Vacation: Unused earned vacation is accrued starting January 1st, earning five (5) PTO days per quarter.
 - Carryover: Paid vacation may not be carried over from one calendar year to the next, encouraging employees to take time off regularly.
 - Request Procedure: Employees should submit a written request at least Fourteen (14) days before the proposed vacation period. This allows for proper planning and scheduling to maintain operational continuity.
 - Approval: Paid time off must be approved by the employee's manager to ensure adequate coverage and workflow management.
- Bereavement: Regular full-time employees are eligible for two (2) days of bereavement days per year.
 - Unused Bereavement: Unused bereavement is not passed to final payment upon termination.
 - Carryover: Bereavement days may not be carried over from one calendar year to the next.

- Request Procedure: Employees should submit a written notification to their manager before the proposed bereavement period if possible.
- Approval: Communicate Bereavement days with your manager to ensure adequate coverage and workflow management.

The death of a loved one is a deeply personal and difficult time, and we recognize the need for our employees to be with their families. This Bereavement Leave Policy provides guidelines for offering paid time off to full-time employees for absences related to the death of immediate family members, close relatives, and fellow employees or retirees of Ohanafy.

- Sick Leave: Regular full-time employees are eligible for five (5) days of sick leave per year.
 - Unused Sick Leave: Unused sick leave is not passed to final payment upon termination.
 - Carryover: Sick leave days may not be carried over from one calendar year to the next.
 - Request Procedure: Employees should submit a written notification to their manager before the proposed sick leave period.
 - Approval: Communicate Sick leave days with your manager to ensure adequate coverage and workflow management.

At any time, management reserves the right to request a doctor's note for any employee who has been off work due to a claimed sickness of the employee or of an immediate family member. The doctor's note shall not include any personal or confidential medical information; however, it should verify and support the employee's time off.

Our time off policy aims to support employee well-being while maintaining productivity and operational efficiency at Ohanafy.

We support civic responsibilities and understand the importance of jury duty participation. Here's how we handle jury duty:

Generally, employees are able to find time to vote either before or after their regular work schedule. If employees are unable to vote in an election during non-working hours, the company will grant up to two (2) hours paid time off so that employees may vote. Employees should notify their supervisor at least two (2) working days prior to the Election Day.
